Bachelor of Library and Information Science (BLIS)

(a) Mission

- To cope with the increasing demand for higher education and trained human resources in the field of Library and Information Science.
- To enable students from the weaker sections of society and rural backgrounds to pursue higher education in Library and Information Science at an affordable cost.
- To provide quality education at a reasonable fee structure.
- To extend higher education to a larger section of society by removing barriers to learning without compromising academic quality.
- To provide meaningful employment opportunities for young people by enhancing their knowledge and professional skills in Library and Information Science.
- To cater to the educational needs of the underprivileged sections of society.
- To promote Library and Information Science education through the Open and Distance Learning system.

Objectives

The Bachelor of Library and Information Science (BLIS) programme aims to impart the knowledge, skills, and professional training necessary for the effective organization and management of libraries and information centres and for providing library and information services with the support of Information Technology.

(b) Relevance of the Programme with HEI's Mission and Goals

The Bachelor of Library and Information Science (BLIS) programme offered through the Open and Distance Learning mode is aligned with the mission and goals of the University by preparing qualified library professionals to meet the growing demand for library and information services.

(c) Nature of Prospective Target Group of Learners

The Bachelor of Library and Information Science (BLIS) programme has been designed to meet the increasing demand for trained human resources in libraries, documentation centres, and information centres. Rapid developments in Information and Communication Technology have transformed library services, and the curriculum has been developed accordingly.

The prospective target group includes:

- Students from weaker sections of society and rural backgrounds.
- Students seeking employment opportunities.
- Untrained persons working in libraries and information centres.
- Persons interested in acquiring knowledge and skills in Library and Information Science.
- Women learners.

(d) Appropriateness of the Programme to be Conducted in Open and Distance Learning Mode to Acquire Specific Skills and Competence

Rapid developments in Information and Communication Technology, computer applications, communication technology, storage technology, and multimedia have significantly transformed library and information services. The BLIS programme enables learners to acquire the knowledge and professional competencies required to meet these changing needs.

The programme provides quality education, particularly to learners from poor and rural backgrounds, thereby fulfilling the growing demand for trained Library and Information

Science professionals.

LS-205	Library Cataloguing Practice	4

Total Credits: 40

Duration of the Programme

- Minimum Duration: One Year (Two Semesters)
- Maximum Duration: Three Consecutive Years from the date of Registration.

Credit System

The University follows the Credit System for all its programmes. Student study comprises activities such as reading and comprehending printed materials, listening to audio, watching videos, attending counselling sessions, and writing assignments. For one credit, 4 hours of counselling will be provided.

Instructional Delivery Mechanism

The methodology of instruction is different from the conventional mode of teaching. Most of the instruction is imparted through the Open and Distance Learning methodology rather than through face-to-face classroom teaching.

(i) Audio Visual Materials

The learning package contains audio and video materials for better clarification and understanding of the course materials. These materials, together with the required equipment, are available at the Centre of the University. The programmes are conducted according to the timetable and may also be arranged at the convenience of the students and the Course Coordinator.

(ii) Counselling Sessions

Face-to-face interaction between learners and counsellors is relatively limited in Distance Education; therefore, counselling sessions are organized to clarify doubts, answer students' questions, and provide academic guidance. These sessions are held during weekends and vacations.

(iii) Practical Work / Field Work

Practical sessions are conducted at the Centre. Students are provided with computer facilities, software packages, and other equipment relevant to the syllabus to complete the practical components of the programme.

(f) Procedure for Admission, Curriculum Transaction and Evaluation

Admission Procedure

Candidates can take admission to the Bachelor of Library and Information Science (BLIS) programme after selection on the basis of merit. Candidates are required to apply in the prescribed format after publication of the admission notification by the University.

Eligibility Criteria

The programme is open to any Graduate or an equivalent qualification.

Evaluation System

The examination has two components:

1. Continuous Evaluation (Assignments) – 30%
2. Term-End Examination (University Examination) – 70%

Each student has to complete and submit the assignment in each theory paper before becoming eligible to appear in the Term-End Examination. The Term-End Examination shall be of 3 hours duration.

The minimum qualifying marks in each paper shall be 40% individually in the Internal and Term-End Examination.

The final gradation shall be as follows:

1st Division	2nd Division	Pass
60% and above	50% to below 60%	40% to below 50%

- Fakir Mohan University will conduct the examinations, evaluations, and issue certificates to the successful candidates.
- All the Term-End Examinations will be held on the University campus.
- The examinations conducted for the students of Distance Education are qualitatively at par with those conducted for the regular College/University students.

(g) Requirement of Laboratory Support and Library Resources

The BLIS programme includes Information Technology and practical papers. The University provides computer laboratory facilities to enable learners to complete the practical requirements of the programme. Practical manuals and reference books are available in the University Library to support students' learning.

(h) Quality Assurance Mechanism and Expected Programme Outcomes

Quality assurance comprises the policies, procedures, and mechanisms through which specified quality standards are maintained. These mechanisms include continuous revision and monitoring to ensure the suitability, efficiency, applicability, currency, and effectiveness of all academic activities, thereby promoting continuous quality improvement.

The University maintains quality in education delivered through the Open and Distance Learning mode by periodically reviewing and updating the curriculum, instructional design, learner support services, and evaluation mechanisms to meet the evolving needs of society and the profession.

The logo of Fakir Mohan University is a circular emblem. The outer ring contains the university's name in Odia: 'ଫକିର ମହାନ' on the left and 'ବିଶ୍ୱବିଦ୍ୟାଳୟ' on the right. Inside this ring, there is a smaller circle with the Sanskrit motto 'अमृतं तु विद्या' (Amritam tu Vidya) at the top. Below the motto is an illustration of an open book with a quill pen resting on it. At the bottom of the emblem, the words 'FAKIR MOHAN UNIVERSITY' are written in a rectangular box.

FAKIR MOHAN UNIVERSITY

MASTER OF ARTS IN SANSKRIT

(a) Mission

- Sanskrit has played a vital role in the development of all Indian languages and in the preservation of the cultural heritage of India. No Indian language can flourish without the help of Sanskrit. It also provides the theoretical foundation of ancient sciences. Hence, it becomes essential to preserve and propagate Sanskrit for the all-round development of students in India.
- To be a Centre of Excellence for learning Sanskrit; to propagate Sanskrit literature and Indian cultural values; to preserve the Śāstra tradition; to popularize the great epics of our motherland; to promote traditional knowledge and show its relevance to contemporary society.
- To create a platform for new knowledge based on Sanskrit heritage, promote the Indian Knowledge System in relevant fields, bring Sanskrit into mainstream education, connect the Sanskrit fraternity with modern academia, and make Sanskrit a vibrant field of multidisciplinary research.
- To re-establish and preserve Indian culture, dharma, ideals, and moral values through classical studies, propagating the refined grammatical tradition of Pāṇini, Kātyāyana, and Patañjali, unfolding the knowledge contained in the works of Kālidāsa, Harṣa, Bhāsa, etc., and exploring the scientific truths latent in the Vedas.

Objectives

- To disseminate and advance knowledge by providing instructional, research, and extension facilities for the promotion of Sanskrit language and other branches of learning, including integrated courses in humanities, social sciences, and science.
- To promote innovation in teaching-learning, interdisciplinary studies and research, and to educate and train manpower for the overall development, promotion, preservation, and research in the field of Sanskrit.

(b) Relevance of the Programme with HEI Mission and Goals

- The M.A. Sanskrit programme is relevant to the HEI mission and goals as distance education emphasizes the needs and convenience of learners while taking into account individual diversity.
- The two-year Master's Degree in Sanskrit is offered through the Open and Distance Learning mode with four semesters, providing opportunities for learners who wish to pursue higher studies in Sanskrit.
- To preserve, promote, spread, and popularize the rich culture and heritage of India and create an identity of Indian culture.
- To reinforce the state's language and literature at the national and international level.
- To promote the development of Sanskrit language and literature at the grassroots level.

(c) Nature of Prospective Target Group of Learners

- Students who had to discontinue their formal education owing to various circumstances.
- People in service, as the programme is available in part-time mode.

- Women, minorities, rural dwellers, and unskilled persons.
- Students from weaker sections of society and rural backgrounds seeking higher education in Sanskrit.

(d) Appropriateness of the Programme to be Conducted in Open and Distance Learning Mode to Acquire Specific Skills and Competence

The Master of Arts in Sanskrit programme prepares learners for careers in:

- Teaching
- Translation
- Publishing Houses
- Writing
- Journalism and Media
- Editing Manuscripts

(e) Instructional Design

The duration of the M.A. course is two academic years spread over four semesters, with six papers in each semester. The first semester generally commences within one week after the last date of admission fixed by the CDOE.

In the fourth semester, all students are required to submit a Dissertation.

Duration of the Programme

- Minimum Duration: Two Years (Four Semesters)
- Maximum Duration: Four Years from the date of Registration.

Credit System

The University follows the credit system for all its programmes. Each credit is equivalent to 30 hours of student study comprising learning activities such as reading and comprehending the printed materials, listening to audio, watching videos, using online and computer-aided materials, attending counselling sessions, and writing assignments.

A 4-credit course involves 120 hours of study.

Instructional Delivery Mechanism

The methodology of instruction is different from the conventional mode of teaching. Most of the instruction is imparted through distance education methodology rather than face-to-face mode of communication.

i. Audio Visual Materials

The learning package contains audio and video materials for better clarification and understanding of the course materials. These materials are available at the Centre of the University.

ii. Counselling Sessions

In distance education, face-to-face contact between the learners and their tutors is relatively less; therefore, the counselling sessions are important. The purpose of such contact programmes is to answer questions and clarify doubts that may not be possible through other means of communication. The counselling sessions are held during weekends and vacations.

iii. Practical Work

There is no practical component in this programme.

(f) Procedure for Admission, Curriculum Transaction and Evaluation

Admission Procedure

In the M.A. Sanskrit programme, candidates can take admission directly. For this purpose, the candidates have to apply for admission in the prescribed format of the University after publication of the admission notification.

Eligibility Criteria

This programme is open to any Graduate. Regular PG Continuing Students are also eligible for applying for admission in the above ODL P.G. Programmes under Dual Degree Mode.

Evaluation System

The examination has two components:

1. Continuous Evaluation (Quiz – 10 Marks, Assignments – 10 Marks, Internal Examination – 20 Marks) – 30%
2. Term-End Examination (University Examination) – 70%

The minimum qualifying marks in each paper is 40% individually in the Internal and Term-End Examination.

The final gradation shall be as follows:

1st Division	2nd Division	Pass
60% and above	50% to below 60%	40% to below 50%

Fakir Mohan University will conduct the examinations, evaluation, and issue certificates to the successful candidates.

(g) Requirement of Laboratory Support and Library Resources

As the M.A. Sanskrit programme is a totally theoretical subject, there is no requirement for laboratory support.

Students completely depend upon the library for their study materials. In order to facilitate students in acquiring vast knowledge through books, the University has a well-furnished library consisting of thousands of books in Sanskrit language and literature, which encourages students to improve their knowledge.

(h) Quality Assurance Mechanism and Expected Outcomes

Quality assurance comprises the policies, procedures, and mechanisms through which specified quality standards are maintained. These policies, procedures, and mechanisms include continuous revision and monitoring activities to evaluate aspects such as suitability, efficiency, applicability, currency, and efficacy of all activities with a view to ensuring continuous quality improvement and enhancement. The quality management recommendations are intended to create clear and uniform frameworks to support independent quality management on the part of the education providers.

The University ensures maintaining quality in education provided through the Open and Distance Learning mode. As per the need of the information society and professional requirements, the University ensures changes in the mechanism from time to time along with enhancement of standards in the course curriculum and instructional design, so that the outcomes of the programme can meet the challenges of the changing society.

MASTER OF ARTS IN ECONOMICS

(a) Mission

The Two-Year Master Degree Programme in Economics is a general degree programme offered through the Open and Distance Learning (ODL) mode consisting of four semesters. The programme has been developed to provide an opportunity to learners who wish to pursue higher studies in Economics. During the course, students acquire in-depth knowledge of core subjects such as Micro Economics, Macro Economics, Mathematical Economics, and Econometrics.

- To offer educational opportunities to students in order to prepare them to become accomplished citizens and professionals capable of critical thinking and independent analysis.
- To advance students' learning at the postgraduate level through a rigorous educational programme integrating economic theory, econometrics, and economic thought with applications in a wide variety of fields within Economics.

Vision / Objectives

The Master's Degree Programme consists of a balanced combination of theory, methods, research, and field-oriented courses that contribute to the economic development of the country. With a Master's Degree in Economics, students are expected to acquire comprehensive knowledge of modern economics as an academic discipline. The programme provides in-depth understanding of economic theories, public policies, finance, and management sectors while developing the soft skills necessary to face challenges in the public sector.

(b) Relevance of the Programme with HEI's Mission and Goals

The Master of Arts in Economics programme offered through the Open and Distance Learning mode is aligned with the mission and goals of the University. The relevance of the programme includes:

- Expanding the horizon of knowledge.
- Enhancing the employability of students.
- Enlightening students about their role as responsible citizens in understanding economic issues that affect society.

(c) Nature of Prospective Target Group of Learners

The M.A. Economics programme prepares students for careers in industry, business schools, doctoral programmes, banking, consultancy, non-profit organizations, policy think tanks, and government departments.

The prospective target group includes:

- Students seeking employment opportunities in teaching and other professions requiring a Master's Degree in Economics.
- Students interested in pursuing research in Economics.
- Students interested in understanding government economic policies, especially employed and adult learners.
- Students from weaker sections of society who are unable to afford the higher fees charged by private institutions.
- Students who prefer the flexibility of the Open and Distance Learning mode.

(d) Appropriateness of the Programme to be Conducted in Open and Distance Learning Mode to Acquire Specific Skills and Competence

The programme is economical and convenient. It provides opportunities for higher education particularly to adult learners, employed persons, and students residing in rural and nearby areas. The curriculum is designed in alignment with the goals of higher education and enhances learners' knowledge and skills in Economics.

The Master of Arts in Economics is an innovative programme utilizing Self-Learning Materials (SLMs), ICT support, and interactive Personal Contact Programmes (PCPs). The programme enables students:

- To learn for knowledge, capacity building, and employability.
- To access updated study materials along with ICT-based learning resources.
- To interact with the faculty members of the University.

Repetitions Removed

- Removed repeated references to the programme being a "Two-Year Master's Degree under distance mode consisting of four semesters" from multiple places.
- Combined overlapping statements on employability and higher education under the Mission and Appropriateness sections.
- Retained all original information without adding or deleting any substantive content, while improving organization and readability.

Duration of the Programme

- Minimum Duration: Two Years (Four Semesters)
- Maximum Duration: Four Years from the date of Registration.

Credit System

The University follows the Credit System for all its programmes. Student study comprises activities such as reading and comprehending the printed materials, soft materials, listening to audio, watching videos, attending counselling sessions, and writing assignments. For one credit, 3 hours of counselling will be provided.

Instructional Delivery Mechanism

The methodology of instruction is different from the conventional mode of teaching. Most of the instructions are imparted through the distance education methodology rather than the face-to-face mode of communication.

(i) Audio Visual Materials

The learning package contains audio and video materials for better clarification and understanding of the course materials. These materials, along with the playing equipment, are available at the Centre of the University. These programmes are played on fixed days as per the timetable and may also be played at the mutual convenience of the students and the Course Coordinator.

(ii) Counselling Sessions

In Distance Education, face-to-face contact between the learners and their tutors is relatively less; therefore, counselling sessions are important. The purpose of such contact programmes is to answer questions and clarify doubts that may not be possible through other means of communication. Such programmes also provide an opportunity to meet fellow learners. The Counsellors at the Study Centres are expected to provide guidance to the students. The counselling sessions are held during weekends and vacations.

(iii) Practical Work

There is no practical component in this programme.

(f) Procedure for Admission, Curriculum Transaction and Evaluation

Admission Procedure

Candidates can take admission directly to the M.A. in Economics programme. For this purpose, candidates have to apply for admission in the prescribed format of the University after publication of the admission notification.

Eligibility Criteria

This programme is open to any Graduate. Regular PG Continuing Students are also eligible for applying for admission to the above ODL P.G. Programmes under Dual Degree Mode.

Evaluation System

The examination has two components:

1. Continuous Evaluation (Quiz – 10 Marks, Assignments – 10 Marks, Internal Examination – 10 Marks) – 30%
2. Term-End Examination (University Examination) – 70%

Each student has to complete and submit the quiz test, assignment, and internal examination in each theory paper before becoming eligible to appear in the Term-End Examination. The Term-End Examination shall be of 3 hours duration.

The minimum qualifying marks in each paper shall be 40% individually in the Internal and Term-End Examination.

The final gradation shall be as follows:

1st Division	2nd Division	Pass
60% and above	50% to below 60%	40% to below 50%

- Fakir Mohan University will conduct the examinations, evaluations, and issue certificates to the successful candidates.
- All the Term-End Examinations will be held at the University campus.

- The examinations conducted for the students of Distance Education are qualitatively at par with those conducted for the regular College/University students.

(g) Requirement of Laboratory Support and Library Resources

The M.A. in Economics programme is based on theory and does not contain practical or laboratory-based courses. Hence, there is no requirement for laboratory support. However, the University provides computer laboratory facilities to the learners for literature searching and internet access required for their learning.

Reference books are available in the University Library for ready use by the learners to support their studies.

(h) Quality Assurance Mechanism and Expected Programme Outcomes

Quality assurance comprises the policies, procedures, and mechanisms through which specified quality standards are maintained. These policies, procedures, and mechanisms include continuous revision and monitoring activities to evaluate aspects such as suitability, efficiency, applicability, currency, and efficacy of all activities with a view to ensuring continuous quality improvement and enhancement. The quality management recommendations are intended to create clear and uniform frameworks to support independent quality management on the part of the education providers.

The University ensures quality in education provided through the Open and Distance Learning mode to cater to the needs of the information society and professional requirements. The University also ensures regular updation of the curriculum and instructional mechanism to match developments in the discipline so that the outcomes of the programme can meet the challenges of the changing society and the diverse academic and professional goals of the learners.

MASTER OF ARTS IN POLITICAL SCIENCE

(a) Mission

A Master's Degree is a postgraduate academic degree that prepares learners for a wide range of pursuits through specialized study in a particular field.

The Political Science programme is designed to provide students with a comprehensive understanding of the State, Government, and their functioning through various institutions and processes. It covers the concepts, theories, and models relating to the State, Government, and the relationship among States. Since the State is a part of the international community, the programme also examines international institutions and laws regulating relations among States. Accordingly, papers such as Comparative Government, International Relations, and Conflict Resolution form an integral part of the programme.

The Master of Arts (M.A.) in Political Science seeks to acquaint students with the State and their role within it. The programme provides learners with a rigorous and flexible course of study, supported by accessible faculty with diverse interests and experiences and excellent facilities for research and study. It also seeks to instil a lifelong commitment to learning, advance diversity and human understanding, and empower students to fulfil their responsibilities as citizens, leaders, and professional political analysts in a democratic society and an interdependent world. Students are trained in the theories and methodologies required to evaluate and conduct fundamental, theoretical, and applied research.

Vision / Objectives

Students will:

- Know how a variety of political systems operate in the world, including that of India.
- Identify the various institutions of Government and the role of the Constitution.
- Learn the various concepts and theories to understand a variety of political and social phenomena.
- Identify an area of concentration for in-depth study and analyse political and social phenomena in their selected area.
- Evaluate, critique, and synthesize scholarship in their selected area of concentration.
- Conduct original research that investigates political or social phenomena in their area of concentration using appropriate methodologies and theories.

(b) Relevance of the Programme with HEI's Mission and Goals

The Master of Arts in Political Science (MPS) programme offered through the Open and Distance Learning mode is aligned with the mission and goals of the University. The relevance of the programme includes:

- Expanding the horizon of knowledge.
- Enhancing the employability of students.
- Enlightening students about their role as responsible citizens in understanding the functioning of the State and Government.

(c) Nature of Prospective Target Group of Learners

The M.A. Political Science programme prepares students for admission to law schools and doctoral programmes in Political Science, as well as careers in political campaigns, interest groups, non-profit organizations, policy think tanks, and legislative and administrative offices.

Political Science graduates have pursued higher studies in reputed law schools and universities and have secured professional positions in government, public affairs, and the private sector.

The prospective target group includes:

- Students seeking employment opportunities in teaching and other professions requiring a Master's Degree in Political Science.
- Students interested in pursuing research in Political Science.
- Students interested in understanding the processes of Government, especially employed and adult learners.
- Students from weaker sections of society who are unable to afford the higher fees charged by private institutions.
- Students who prefer the flexibility of the Open and Distance Learning mode.

(d) Appropriateness of the Programme to be Conducted in Open and Distance Learning Mode to Acquire Specific Skills and Competence

The programme is economical and convenient. It provides opportunities for higher education particularly to adult learners, employed persons, and students residing in rural and nearby areas. MASTER OF ARTS IN HISTORY

(a) Mission & Objectives

The Two-Year Master Degree Programme in History is a general degree programme offered through the Open and Distance Learning (ODL) mode consisting of four semesters. The programme has been developed to provide an opportunity to learners who wish to pursue higher studies in History while promoting liberal educational thought.

The programme is of great value to teachers working in schools and personnel associated with institutions related to history and culture, such as museums, archives, and archaeological organizations.

The programme aims to enable students to:

- Develop the ability to distinguish between facts and fiction.
- Employ a full range of techniques and methods used to acquire historical knowledge.

(b) Relevance of the Programme with HEI's Mission and Goals

The Master of Arts in History (MAH) programme offered through the Open and Distance Learning mode is aligned with the mission and goals of the University.

The programme enables students to produce historical analysis that reflects a sophisticated understanding of major schools of historical theory and methodology.

The programme accomplishes the following goals:

- Identification, preservation, and interpretation of historical documents.
- Assessment of current historiographical trends in the field.
- Enabling students to undertake their own inquiries into the past.
- Building better career opportunities through the study of different cultures.
- Developing the ability to distinguish between facts and fiction.

(c) Nature of Prospective Target Group of Learners

The programme plays an important role in providing opportunities for higher studies to specific groups of learners, particularly:

- Adult learners and comparatively older students.
- Employed persons seeking higher education.
- Learners residing in rural and village areas.

The programme also enhances the knowledge, skills, and efficiency of learners in the field of History. Its curriculum is designed in alignment with the goals of higher education.

(d) Appropriateness of the Programme to be Conducted in Open and Distance Learning Mode to Acquire Specific Skills and Competence

The Master of Arts in History (MAH) programme provides opportunities for learners to develop knowledge and competence in the fields of:

- Teaching
- Research
- Historical and Cultural Studies

The University provides opportunities, particularly to learners from poor and rural backgrounds, to receive quality education in History, thereby fulfilling the educational needs of society.

Holistic Development: College provides exposure to learners in the latest trends in relevant branches of knowledge, competence and creativity to face global challenges.

Socially responsible Citizen: College inculcates a sense of civic responsibility, social commitment, and moral accountability among the students through social activities to with exposure to human rights, value system, culture, heritage, scientific temper and environment.

Value-based Development: To impart quality and need based education our objective is to sensitize the students to their changing roles in society through awareness raising activities.

(B) RELEVANCE OF THE PROGRAMME WITH HEI'S MISSION AND GOAL:

There are much and more relevance of the M.Com programme with HEI's mission and Goal because Distance Education gets overwhelming response in India. However, even in this system, the actual aim of providing quality education is getting replaced by the aim of making more money from students by the institutes. The relevance of this programme can consider while studying Business Studies.

The following relevances are very much important in HEI's goal:

BUSINESS STUDIES

Business Studies is an important subject for commerce students. Here are some of the reasons why one should study Business Studies:

Business Studies is a subject that deals with the operation and organization of modern business enterprises. The subject covers each feature of a business firm, such as how a firm will be affected in different business situations.

The main areas of study in the subject include business organizations, their various features, structure and functioning, marketing, operations management, human resource management, etc.

Studying Business allows a student to observe and analyse the behaviour and tactics of different firms.

The subject of Business Studies involves more than just mastering the art of doing business. The subject brings students abreast with the corporate culture and prepares them for their professional life.

Business activities are something that affects the daily lives of all people in a society. It also influences creation of employment, incomes, opportunities for personal enterprise, and standards of living of all individuals. Studying business allows a student to understand how business activities influence the society and the economy directly and indirectly.

(C) NATURE OF PROSPECTIVE TARGET GROUP OF LEARNERS:

Basically the programme focusing towards those persons who are employed and who have not time to attend class on regular days. Skill enhancement and knowledge acquisition are the very important aspects of any job. Skills and knowledge are perhaps the only two factors that propel your career to the greater heights. One way for a working professional to acquire new skills and knowledge is to grab every learning opportunity thrown at them. The other way is to pursue a distance M.Com course and gain the skills in a shorter span of time. Working professionals can benefit immensely from distance M.Com course. These courses are available part-time and hence you do not need to quit the job for them. You can continue with your occupation and learn Commerce side by side. Whether you are an engineer or any other professional, learning business management could boost your career significantly.

(D) APPROPRIATENESS OF PROGRAMME TO BE CONDUCTED IN OPEN AND DISTANCE LEARNING MODE TO ACQUIRE SPECIFIC SKILLS AND COMPETENCE:

M.Com education gives you new skills and knowledge to enhance your current career. After working in the office for two or three years, and gaining adequate experience, you will realize that you were in fact stuck in a comfort zone. By doing your M.Com course, you will soon be forced out of your comfort zone and learn how to deal with the latest issues. This program will give you the opportunity to constantly challenge and push yourself in order to continuously improve.

- ✓ Develop priceless managerial skills.
- ✓ Experience a new place and culture during your studies
- ✓ Networking opportunities.

(G) REQUIREMENT OF THE LABORATORY SUPPORT AND LIBRARY RESOURCES:

Library use study as an aspect of users' studies is a vital aid for effective planning and management in academic libraries. Most evaluative studies on library use have always concentrated on students' use of academic libraries. So the CDOE, Fakir Mohan University is providing library and computer lab facility to M.Com students. The need for good libraries in higher institutions of learning cannot be over-emphasized, as the quality of any education depends on the library, not the library as a magnificent building but the use of it. It is important that libraries serving academic communities have the broadest possible collection of books and other essential materials. The academic library is an inexhaustible stone house of knowledge, where one can go at will, unrestricted to help himself to the whole field of knowledge and practical life of the past, present and prognostications for the future.

(I) Quality assurance mechanism and expected programme outcome:

Quality assurance comprises the policies, procedures and mechanisms which that specified quality specifications and standards are maintained. These policies, procedures and mechanisms include continuous revision and monitoring activities to evaluate aspects such as suitability, efficiency, applicability, currency and efficacy of all activities with a view to ensure continuous quality improvement and enhancement. The quality management recommendations are intended to create clear and uniform frameworks to support independent quality management on part of the education providers. The quality management recommendation for vocational education and training and for apprenticeship training is being reformed and updated.

M.Com program must: “ensure the development of core competencies including, but not limited to, written and oral communication, quantitative reasoning, information literacy, and critical thinking.”

The CDOE review process calls upon institutions to describe how the curriculum addresses each of the five core competencies, explain their learning outcomes in relation to those core competencies, and demonstrate, through evidence of student performance, the extent to which those outcomes are achieved. If they wish, institutions may create their own limited list of essential higher-order competencies beyond the five listed.

MASTER OF LIBRARY AND INFORMATION SCIENCE

(a) Programme's Mission & Objectives:
